Resolution No. 1054- Set Public Hearing- 2023 Revisions to the Engineering Design and Development Standards Project Manual

The Engineering Design and Development Standards Project Manual was originally adopted by City Council on April 5, 2004 and was last updated on January 1, 2022. These standards are required by the State’s Growth Management Act and include street, water, sewer, and storm drainage standards to be used for all new and replacement construction.

In response to inquiries, changes in technology, and the feedback from customers, additions, deletions and/or clarifications have been made to the project manual. The manual also addresses access issues, permitting processes and procedures, and includes various forms necessary in the development process. Staff is updating the Manual annually and presents Resolution No. 1054 along with a list of revisions for Council review.

The Public Works Committee reviewed the updates at their October 5, 2022, meeting and recommended that City Council set a Public Hearing for November 7, 2022, to hear comments on the proposed revisions.

3. PUBLIC HEARING

Substitute Ordinance 1658-Interim Zoning Provisions on Community Residential Facilities and Emergency Interim Ordinance 1650-Zoning Provisions on Community Residential Facilities

On September 15, 2022, the City Council adopted Ordinance No. 1650, an interim zoning ordinance pertaining to the prohibition of community residential facilities within 500 feet of the City's schools and within 300 feet of other community residential facilities. Pursuant to RCW

36.70A.390 and 35A.63.220, this was done to rapidly adopt temporary zoning controls during the time in which permanent regulations are being developed.

As no public hearing was held at that time, tonight's public hearing is held in order to accept public comment on these provisions. This is required within 60 days of the original passage of the interim ordinance.

The Council may consider revising, ending, or extending the temporary zoning provisions based on public comment and staff recommendation. Legal counsel can support the extension of the ordinance but has proposed minor revisions which are being presented as substitute Ordinance No. 1658. It should be noted that the intent of the substitute ordinance is the same, but the document now clarifies the definition of a "recovery residence," it references cities with similar separate regulations, and has been updated a few other minor revisions. These changes are shown as strike-through / underlined format with the agenda packet.
