Robert Sargent, Public Information Officer, advised that when the scholarship check was presented to Brendan O’Keefe, a photograph and article were posted to the City of Apopka News, Events Facebook page, as well as promoting it to the media.

Jeff Welch said he works for Rochelle Holdings, the parent developer of Kelly Park Crossing, and stated he was not here to speak for or against the item on the Consent Agenda regarding Form Based Code. Rod Love applauded Council on the open process of the Budget Workshops. He stated one issue he wanted to address is the issue of advocacy and fairness, stating he noticed the amount of $70,000 in the budget for Apopka Begins and Ends with an “A”. He said while he supports school programs, education was a core issue of the Orange County School Board. He said those actions heighten the call for single member districts.

BUSINESS

1. Development Review Fees Update

Mark Reggentin, Community Development Director, said in evaluating the code, it was brought to his attention the development review fee structure had not been updated or evaluated since 1993. He stated this raised a few concerns in terms of recuperating costs of the development review process. He advised there are generally two approaches to development review fee structure; one being to recoup these costs, and the other is to keep the fee structure low and subsidize the development review process as an incentive for new development to come in. He suggested doing an evaluation to determine what the development review cost is for each application and bring the fees more in line with the services being provided.

In response to where our fees are in comparison to surrounding cities, Mr. Reggentin advised our fees are the lowest. He stated the development review fees should be evaluated every two to three years.

In response to Commissioner Dean inquiring where the money goes for these fees and why we do not show what these fees are used for, Mr. Irby advised they go into the General Fund and they are unrestricted funds within the General Fund. He explained the gap he refers to would shorten since they can be used for anything across the spectrum.

It was the consensus of the Council to have these fees evaluated and bring forward an ordinance bringing the fees more in line with what other communities charge.

The recommendation is to follow Florida Statutes and have the onus and liability put to the organization using city facilities. They will be required to show proof of the level one background checks.
